

Outfall locations are approximations from recent field surveys and will be updated when the most recent City of Seattle outfall data become available. Orthophoto source: King County 1999.

